

ADAPTER DISPLAYPORT V1.2 – HDMI V1.4

DISPLAY
PORT
V1.2

HDMI
V1.4

4K
ULTRA
HD

20CM
LENGTH

EN TECHNICAL SPECIFICATION

|                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|----------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Functionality:       | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– HDMI 3D display mode</li> <li>– Dual Mode input with full support for FULL HD 1080p@60 Hz and 4K 3840×2160@30 Hz</li> <li>– Provides bandwidth up to 10.8 Gbps</li> </ul> |
| Connectors:          | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– DisplayPort (M) v1.2, gold plated</li> <li>– HDMI A (F) v1.4, nickel plated</li> </ul>                                                                                    |
| Operating direction: | DisplayPort → HDMI                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Activity range:      | Audio - Video transfer                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Max. resolution:     | 4K 3840×2160@30 Hz                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

